

A Life

By Pearl Hallajian

Friend, love a dog
That was once yours
But Heaven took them away
A tear holds all your anger,
Sadness, and memories
In your heart
You love your dog,
You try but it's not enough
And you cry but that won't
Bring them back
A week til your two digits
But they're still gone
Not a thing in the world
Could help

All you can do is
Accept it
Let their spirit free
To fly back home to God
Knowing you won't see them again
In this life
The final thought is one day
You'll be gone to see them again
But til then
You have to drop the sad
And bring the happy
And memories back
Because you only have
One life to live so...
