

PLEIN AIR SUNDAY

mornings

LEAVE THE FOUR WALLS OF YOUR STUDIO BEHIND

and experience painting and drawing in the landscape. The practice goes back for centuries but was truly made into an art form by the French Impressionists. Their desire to paint light and its changing, ephemeral qualities, coupled with the creation of transportable paint tubes and the box easel — the precursor to the plein air easels of today — allowed artists the freedom to paint en plein air, French for “in the open air.”

BRING YOUR OWN MATERIALS

Bring your easel or drawing board, and artistic materials (oils, watercolors, pastels, acrylic, canvases or paper, pens, pencils, etc.) and create with other Glen Rock artists en plein air from a number of Glen Rock locations. This is a time when you can gather with others to draw/paint in nature, at your own pace and style.
